INDIA

Rajiv Gandhi University (NAAC A Graded) previously recognised as Arunachal University, stands as the preminent institution for advanced education within the Arunachal Pradesh region of India. Its inception traces back to the 4th of February, 1984. Positioned approximately 25 kilometres distance from Itanagar, the state capital, the university occupies a scenic plateau atop the Rono Hills, spanning 302 acres. The institution delivers a spectrum of academic offerings, encompassing undergraduate, postgraduate and Ph.D. programmes in 44 Departments, alongside diverse professional training courses and certificate programmes.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The inception of the Department of Education dates back to 1988. The department operationalises a Bachelor of Education (B.Ed.) Programme with an enrolment capacity of 100 students, alongside a Master of Arts in Education (M.A. Education) Programme accommodating 62 students. Additionally, the department boasts research amenities catering to Ph.D. scholars. Presently, it extends its academic offerings to include a BA B.Ed. Secondary Stage Integrated Teacher Education Programme, designed for an enrolment of 50 students.
